1. Project Scope Information request

Sep 13, 2025 10:59 PM

Question: Data size and growth – How many terabytes of data does the City intend to replicate to the cloud and what growth is anticipated over the three-year term? (Licensing costs are typically per TiB-month and there is a four-TiB minimum.) Cloud provider and deployment region – Which cloud platform (Azure, AWS or Google Cloud) does the City plan to use for Cloud Volumes ONTAP? Are there geographic restrictions on where the data may reside? Integration with existing systems – What versions of ONTAP and other NetApp tools are running on the City’s on-premise arrays? Are there any compatibility or networking considerations that the vendor needs to address when setting up replication? Additional features or add-ons – Besides the base CVO Essentials Secondary license, does the City need add-on services such as Cloud Backup, Data Sense, WORM storage, or NetApp SupportEdge? If so, which support tier (Basic, Advisor, Expert) is required? Implementation and support responsibilities – Is the vendor expected to perform installation, configuration and testing of the license in the City’s cloud tenancy, or is this strictly a license procurement? Will the vendor need to train City IT staff or provide ongoing technical support beyond NetApp’s standard support? Authorized reseller status – Does the City require proof that the bidder is an authorized NetApp partner or holds specific certifications to supply CVO licenses? Security and compliance standards – Are there specific regulatory or security frameworks (e.g., NIST, CJIS, HIPAA) the solution must meet? What data-encryption or access-control requirements apply to the cloud copy? Contract terms and renewal options – Is the three-year subscription expected to renew automatically at the same capacity, or will future renewals require a new bid? Does the City anticipate scaling up to high-availability nodes or primary workloads later, which would require a different CVO tier? Pricing assumptions – Does the City have a firm budget or expected discount for this license (the IFB's estimated project cost is $70,000)? What payment schedule will apply – all upfront or annual? Bid evaluation criteria – Beyond lowest cost, will factors such as experience, references or delivery record influence the award? Are there preferences for local vendors or certified small businesses?

Answered: 1. Currently have 91TiB used and reserved on the cluster. Assuming a ~10% growth per year, we might get to ~120TiB after 3 years, if we're consistently provisioning new VMs on it. More like 105TiB if we assume half that growth over 3 years. 2. Azure Presumed continental US, would need to be verified with legal. 3. Versions: NetApp Release 9.12.1P7: Fri Sep 15 06:00:51 UTC 2023 VPC with Azure already configured with POC BlueXP connector. Prefilter Policies in place on firewall to Fastpath traffic to our Azure VNET. 4. Support Edge Advisor seems like the right fit for us. <https://www.netapp.com/pdf.html?item=/media/8847-na-1127-supportededge-advisor-service.pdf> 5. Strictly procurement, nothing additional (support, training, etc...) needed. 6. Should be an authorized reseller of Netapp. 7. This is a procurement only IFB, any configuration(s) needed to meet regulatory or security framework(s) will be handled in-house. 8. Future renewals after the initial 3yr would go out to bid. 9. No firm budget. Initial 3yr contract would be billed annually. 10. No request for references or experience has been requested for this bid. Delivery records have not been requested either, however, the ability to deliver in a timely manner is a consideration we take. There are preferences for local vendors and veteran owned small businesses.
