Project Description

City of Pembroke Pines is seeking federal funding in the amount of $110,000 to implement a mental health and wellness program within its Police Department that will benefit all of its sworn and civilian personnel. The proposed mental health and wellness program consists of two parts: 1) A peer support program that will be facilitated through the recruitment of agency members who will serve as volunteers within the program, and 2) the deployment of a Personnel Wellness Application agency-wide for agency members to utilize as a free to use resource that augments existing mental health and wellness efforts and activities within the agency. Training of peer support program (PSP) members will be conducted on a quarterly basis in specialized topics to provide PSP members strategies and techniques to assist colleagues facing hardships including but not limited to stressors, emotional, financial, or other personal difficulties. Trainings will be performed through consultant services of a police psychologist or other psychological form specializing in law enforcement mental health and awareness. The personal wellness application will serve as a resource to augment the PSP and existing internal city/police department programs designed to meet mental health and wellness services; the application will feature articles, videos, and other resources developed by first responder psychologists and industry experts covering topics including but not limited to alcohol abuse, anger management, therapy locators and referral assistance.
