Hi Sharon,

Thanks for running this by. I think the language is fine.
Regarding the State's site identification number (just in case):

The "8" refers to: "Florida."

The "BD" refers to: "Broward."

The "92" refers to: the site's specific identification number.

Although 8BD92 is the correct (complete) form, it's not unusual for the "8" to be dropped when referencing the site. Within Florida, referring to a site by just the County abbreviation and site number is fine. The "8" would be included in out-of-state correspondence though (for example – when corresponding with a Federal agency).

Hi. I've added the below text to our conservation element. Please let me know if this is sufficient as far as the appropriate means to designate the site. It is already identified on CE-2 map so I don't think the map needs to change. PS our map has it listed as BD92 (missing the 8).

Policy 4.17 - New archeological sites obtained from the Florida Master Site File Inventory were added to the City's natural resources map series (Map No. CE-2, CE – Appendix – Maps – Page 1) and will be updated on an as needed basis. The City hereby designates the Buzzards Roost Archeological site a historic resource which has a Florida Master Site File Number 8BD92, consistent with the Broward County designation pursuant to Resolution No. 2017-558, adopted December 5, 2017.
