Hi Commissioner Castillo,
Our preferred language is the ordinance in Sebring:

"Sec. 4-40. Prohibited acts.

It shall be unlawful for any person to use a bullhook, ankus, whip, electrical prod or other implement or tool that causes unjustifiable pain or suffering to a wild or exotic animal which is being displayed within the municipal limits of the City of Sebring. For purposes of this section, the term use shall include brandishing, exhibiting or displaying a bullhook, ankus, whip, electric prod or an implement designed to look like a bullhook, ankus, whip, or electric prod in the presence of a wild or exotic animal for the purpose of training or controlling the behavior of the animal"

(See also attached the ordinance as voted on by the Sebring City Council in August 2017.)

The Sebring ordinance also covers implements that are designed to look like bullhooks.

Please let us know if the ordinance will be on the agenda for the November 13 commission meeting. We will encourage our supporters in the city to attend.

Thanks again,
Nick

Dear Commissioner Castillo,

We appreciate your interest in this issue. I've attached the text of bullhook bans that are in effect in other Florida cities. The ordinances prohibit the use of bullhooks, electric prods and other cruel devices sometimes used in traveling circuses. In addition, several of the ordinances also prohibit the constant chaining of elephants.

It is wrong to use pain and the fear of punishment to control elephants. Fortunately, an increasing number of zoos, scientists and trainers condemn use of the bullhook in favor of safer and more humane elephant handling methods that rely on positive reinforcement only. The Association of Zoos and Aquariums, an accrediting organization that includes Zoo Miami and Disney's Animal Kingdom among its members, recently announced a new policy opposing the use of bullhooks.

The Garden Bros. Circus, the circus that will be performing at the Charles F. Dodge City Center in November, has claimed that it is no longer using bullhooks. We are skeptical of the truth of the circus' statement, but if true, the circus should then have no objection to an ordinance prohibiting the use of bullhooks.

A ban on the use of bullhooks and other cruel devices would send a message that elephant abuse is not welcome in Pembroke Pines!

Thank you for your consideration. Please let me know if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

Nick Atwood, Campaigns Coordinator

Good evening Commissioner Castillo.

Thank you for your interest in hearing more information about the bull-hook and other painful devices used in circuses.

Currently there are four cities in South Florida who have enacted bull-hook bans: Miami Beach, Pompano Beach, Hallandale Beach and Margate.

We would be ecstatic to see Pembroke Pines join this list.

Bull-hook bans do not prevent circuses from happening. They prevent tools used to hurt animals for compliance.

I am copying Nick Atwood, who is with the Animal Rights Foundation of Florida, and he can better address any technical questions or concerns I may not be able to answer. I believe he has another fact sheet he can offer.

Pembroke Pines residents and others will be attending any commission meeting this would come up for discussion, except November 13th, as this is when we are protesting.

I have also attached a copy of the Hallandale Beach ordinance for your review. If you would like others to submit to Sam Goren, we will forward to you upon request.

Thank you for your interest in this matter. It is greatly appreciated.
